EARTHBORN POTTERY

is a company built from our love of art and our passion to create it.

Earthborn Studios is a small band of artists who are making a dream come true by hard work, creativity, and inspiration. They enjoy a common ground with the chefs for whom they design.

Both chef and potter take raw ingredients from the earth to be carefully subjected to the right time and temperature in the ovens, and then placed on the table to be enjoyed. Mixers, baker's racks, oven mitts, rolling pins, measuring cups, etc., are tools of the potter as well as the chef. As in the high culinary arts, the art of clay is expressive and exacting.

Working with clay gives us a connection to the earth and a respect for our Creator who made it. Each piece is a labor of love; handmade, heartfelt, and designed with inspiration from nature in all its glory: the greens of pine trees, the blues and violets of the sky, the downy warmth of cotton fields, golden hues of honey, and the deep reds from our Alabama soil.

We hope that each piece of Earthborn Pottery leaves you with a sense of connectedness with nature and a glimpse of the Divine influence in each of our lives as we express our love and appreciation in each piece. Like the people we cherish, each piece of Earthborn Pottery is unique and one of a kind, a treasure to be passed down for generations.

Tena Z. Payne, Owner/Designer of Earthborn

Earthborn Pottery has been proven in the restaurant industry since 1997. The journey started with a willing chef and a hungry potter who both had something to gain from the relationship.

Earthborn pottery and its process developed over time and yielded a product uniquely situated to custom design. Working one-on-one with the chef, insights to specific functionality can easily be translated into a finished vessel. The collaboration between the two artists yields a personal statement available in no other way.

Earthborn pottery has achieved so much success for so many: Just like creating successful food, it's all about the science. Here are some of the reasons:

CORE MATERIALS

Earthborn begins with a custom blend of clay designed for strength and beauty. High in iron content, the clay is fired to maturity at 2400 degrees. When it chips (and it takes a beating to make it chip) it chips dark, disappearing into the natural edge and design of each piece. Vitrification prevents any absorption.

PROCESS

Ram press vs casting: When clay is cast, it is dissolved in water and poured into a mold. When Earthborn clay is Ram pressed there is already more material in the vessel because the ratio of clay to water is higher. Hence the piece is more dense and stronger because of this process.

GLAZES

Earthborn glazes are the result of years of testing refractory material and its relationship to the clay. These 'borosilicate' glazes are extremely hard and withstand the daily use seen in restaurant environments, including the thermal shock of dishwashers and abrasive detergents. High-fired and intrinsically interesting, the glaze and vessel fuse to form a tight bond and beautiful frame for culinary art.

TEMPERATURE

Earthborn pottery is fired twice—bisque and glaze. The glaze and clay fuse to form a tight bond. The final glaze temperature tops out at 2400 degrees. The clay is totally vitrified at this point.

CUSTOMIZATION

One of the beautiful things about Earthborn pottery is the design attribute availability to the chef/culinary professional. Chefs are artists too, and—rightly so— want the proper frame for their creations. This is where Earthborn excels. One-on-one collaboration results in a truly unique-to-the-property dining experience.

MADE IN AMERICA

A potter since the 1970s, Tena Payne developed Earthborn specifically to make plates for chefs. A coincidental meeting in 1997 led to the creation of tableware for the now-famous Hot and Hot Fish Club. Now Tena and her family create plating for over 100 properties worldwide. Made in Leeds, Alabama, and housed in a re-purposed watch factory, Earthborn Studios is a Certified Woman-Owned Business.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEE

Earthborn stands behind their product 100%. If for any reason a customer is unhappy with the product or its performance, Earthborn will replace.

GLAZES

Our exclusive, high-fire glazes are oven, microwave, and dishwasher safe. Find your favorite or mix and match to create your own unique look. Note that glazes may appear different on flat and vertical surfaces. Some imprinted products may not be recommended in all glazes.

THE SCIENCE OF FUNCTIONALITY

Earthborn has spent years developing our own techniques and glazes to meet the high standards of today's commercial kitchens. Our products have been professionally tested for "GLLE" (glaze leaching), scratch, compression, dishwasher and thermal shock resistance. Critical attention to firing times, temperature, and clay-glaze relationship make our products extremely durable. The clay body is completely vitrified so any chips are non-absorbent and the dark clay blends into the natural edge.

Our products have been restaurant proven since 1997. All of our products are proudly made by hand in our 24,000 square foot facility located in Leeds, Alabama.

TESTIMONIALS

"I really enjoy using Earthborn dinnerware. The dinnerware is durable and beautiful. I use the pieces for everything from casual to fine dining events. I have gotten many compliments from guests who admire the dinnerware. I need to add more to our collection."

Chef Johnnie Taylor
Wind Creek Casino

"Earthborn Pottery is the only plateware I will use at SpringHouse. Since we opened, Tena has supplied me with coffee mugs to butter dishes and everything in between. The durability of Earthborn Pottery has allowed me to continue using what I think to be one-of-a-kind product which showcases our food in the best way"

Chef Rob McDaniel
Springhouse, Russell Crossroads,
Lake Martin Alabama

"The plates are great, not only do they look amazing and unique, but their durability is impressive too. Their handmade quality brings out the beauty of our artisan fare, and presents our guests with a truly exquisite and delicious experience."

Chef Daniel Doherty
Chef de Cuisine of Duck
& Waffle, London

Our chefs and restaurants have been working together with Earthborn Pottery since 1997. They provide us the opportunity to take a very hands-on approach in our working relationship allowing the chefs to come to her studio and help in the creative process, making it come out just as you visualize. Every piece is so unique, enhancing the visual aesthetics of our cuisines and adding a nice conversational piece for the guests.

Chef Chris Hastings
Idie Hastings Owner
Hot & Hot Fish Club

"We have been searching for a durable china option for years - with Earthborn Pottery, we have found durability, but also inspirational colors and shapes. The natural approach to this china brings a refreshing element to our dining room and helps set the tone for a refined dining experience."

Chef David Bull
Congress, Bar Congress
and Second Bar + Kitchen

"Earthborn's products helped define our brand in multiple outlets. From upscale, fine dining to a casual concept, the plates visually stand out while offering durability and value. It's an honor for me to work these plates and I put my reputation on the quality of these great products"

Executive Chef & Parter Timon Balloo
